Villa is dead again.

It looks like the good old summer time is here and we are constrained to ask the Houston Post paragrapher if it is not time to "take 'em off."Congressman Joe Eagle of Houston has recalled his statement that he would not again be a candidate for Congress, and has re-entered the race.Hon. Cato Sells, Indian Commissioner by appointment of President Wilson, has decided not to make the race for Congress against Oscar Calloway.
Another case of "bird in hand," etc.It develops that it was Carranza troops which fought the American troops at Parral. So far as that goes, however, we would like to know the difference between a Carranza soldier and a Villa bandit with respect to the United States.Cyclone Davis is to make an effort to withdraw his words in congress criticizing Jefferson Davis, Yancey, Toombs, and others, that called down such a storm upon his head. He had just as well try to withdraw the waves that beat against the shores of all the seas.Some fellow has proposed to limit the number of lawyers to one for every 5,000 population. That's a little rough when we consider they only limit the saloons to one for every 500 population. The lawyers have a kick coming.Former Governor Campbell, candidate for the United States Senate, spoke at Crockett Saturday and indorsed both President Wilson and Wm. J. Bryan. That was some feat in political gymnastics, and we hope Gov.
Tom did not strain himself.The people of Hearne and surrounding country will give a big picnic on Friday at Port Sullivan, celebrating the completion and opening of the new bridge at that point on the Brazos.The Greenville Banner wants to see all the idle acres brought into use.
That suggests the thought that if we could get all the idle laborers to work on the idle acres, the crops of Texas would be almost doubled.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Warning to Brides.

They hadn't been married very long, when one evening Mr. Jones came home to find his bride in tears."My darling, my darling!" he exclaimed in dismay. "What ever has happened? Oh, don't weep like that!
Tell your husband what is wrong.""O-o-h, John," she gasped as she choked back her sobs. "I—O-o-h—I've lost my diamond engagement ring!"And again she buried her face in her handkerchief. Then silence roused her curiosity, and she looked up to see her husband smiling strangely at her."Do not cry," he said in level tones.
"I found it this morning in my trousers pocket."—Exchange.

Might Be a Good Idea.

Farmer Cloverseed had come up to London for a few days. Before he started he had promised to bring his daughter a present, so as he went into the jeweler's shop he said to the assistant:"I want a pair of earrings, cheap, but pretty. They be fur a present.
"You want something a trifle loud, I suppose?""Well, I don't mind if one of them is a little loud," replied the farmer.
"My girl is deaf in one ear."—New York Globe.

Ineffective.

An M. P. was once showing a young American lady over the house of commons. In passing through the library he remarked to her that it was against the rules for a woman to sit down there."Is that really a law of the place?" asked the American lady, with wide open and innocent eyes."The very law," answered the member with a smile."Then," said the visitor calmly but determinedly, "just see me break it."Without further ado she threw up a chair and sat resolutely down at the table.—Exchange.

A DISTINCTION.

A congressional committee went to a Northwestern state to assist in opening an exposition. There was a parade in the morning in which all the visiting statesmen rode in automobiles.
The local committee brought the cars around to the leading hotel. The scheme was to have two senators or representatives and two local men in each car.After the vice president and his party had been sent away a local notable who was acting as major domo came into the lobby of the hotel, where the statesmen were waiting, and bawled:
"Two congressmen and two gentlemen, please!"—Exchange.

Hated to Be Short.

A seedy looking individual in a West Madison street saloon turned from the free lunch counter, where he had been helping himself most generously, and said to the barkeeper:"Friend, can you trust me for a glass of beer till tomorrow?"

"No," said the barkeep.

"I am sorry to hear that," said the seedy one. "It seems kinder mean to eat the amount of free lunch that I have, and then not buy nothin'."—Exchange.Austin, Tex., April 14.—The faculty of the University of Texas, according to an announcement today, has decided to extend the summer session of that institution for ten days, making the summer session eleven weeks.Because of the short time between now and summer this change may not be effective this year, but might commence with the 1917 summer session.
Over 1,500 teachers annually attend this summer session of the University.A Great

FOR COMMISSIONER

The Eagle is authorized to announce Mr. Wm. Mantel of Kurten as a candidate for Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, subject to the July Democratic primaries.Mr. Mantel has resided in the Kur-ten precinct for 35 years and is well and favorably known to every voter of the precinct. He is a good man, a good citizen, and is held in high esteem by all who know him. Mr. Mantel believes himself qualified to discharge in a creditable and capable manner the duties of the office to which he aspires, and if elected will always be at his post and do everything in his power to advance the county and its every interest.Mr. Mantel is one of the county's most progressive farmers, is a firm believer in modern and progressive methods, and if elected commissioner will endeavor to bring modern methods to the front in the affairs of the county. He will appreciate the support of his friends.The Eagle takes pleasure in placing the name and claims of Mr. Mantel before the democratic voters of his precinct.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Subbubs (arriving home)—Well, dear, anything new happened today?
Mrs. Subbubs—The cook's gone. Subbubs—I asked you if there was anything new happened.—Boston Trangive me any reason why I should not enlist. Spouse—Well, I should miss you, dear, but the Germans couldn't.

—London Mail."What is your position?" asked Mrs. Nurich during her visit to the hospital. "I'm an interne," responded the young man. "Oh, my poor boy!
To think you can't go home until this dreadful war is over," she said.—Buffalo Express.Vice thrives and lives by concealment.—Virgil."How did Crimson Gulch happen to vote for prohibition?" "Well," replied Three-Finger Sam, "so many of the boys got tired of owing money to the saloons that they thought the best thing to do was to put 'em out of business."—Washington Star.Unquiet meals make ill digestions.

FROM OTHER VIEWPOINTS.

Is there no fellow-feeling between bosses? Senator Penrose heartlessly announced that Barnes is dead, but does not know it.—New York Evening Post.John D. Rockefeller now rides a bicycle. It's only the poor who think they can afford gasoline.—Detroit Free Press.A paper in Alabama announces that that state this year will produce nearly as large a peanut crop as did the entire South fifteen or twenty years ago. And as further evidence of crop developments we have to note that the production of peanut politicians in a single state is now nearly as large as the whole national product fifty years ago.—Providence Journal.And now Holland has sent over two agents who say that they are going to buy $5,000,000 or $10,000,000 worth of stuff a year! It looks as if business were not going to get any rest at all.
—Indianapolis News.Way, there is even danger that the colonel will forgive Bill Barnes!— Rochester Herald.But, considering his resources, wouldn't Mr. Ford make a better candidate for vice president?—Indianapolis News.In view of the Henry Ford vote in the Michigan presidential primary, it might be well to discover how much Henry Fordism there is in the whole Republican party—especially if Mr.
Roosevelt is to be the Republican candidate.—Springfield Republican.In other words, the packers are very nice gentlemen, but somewhat prejudiced in favor of the packers.—

REPUBLICAN CALL.

To the Republicans of Brazos county, Texas:Under and by the virtue of authority vested in me as chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Brazos County, Texas, and the laws of the State of Texas, and in accordance with a motion adopted by the County Republican Exec. Committee, at a meeting of said committee held in the city of Bryan, Texas, April 15, 1916, at the Court House, a County Republican convention is hereby called
